

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method, computer system and computer program product for providing a parent with electronic control over e-transactions proposed by a minor for whom the parent is responsible. The method includes electronically providing information describing the proposed e-transaction to the parent and electronically receiving information from the parent disposing of some or all of the proposed e-transaction.